CAPTIVES SUFFER FROM HUNGER

7 Reported "Nearly Dead"

An Unsuccessful Attempt Is Made To Steal Machine

An unsuccessful attempt was made last night to steal the Ford roadster of Roberts and Rodden who operate a repair shop in Lynn street. The thief would have no doubt been successful had it not been the fact that there was but a few drops of gasoline in the machine and the thief abandoned it at the top of Patton street hill in front of the telephone exchange.

Sergeant H. T. Haraway and E. L. Heflinger were standing on the courthouse steps about 8:30 o'clock when a Ford roadster came up Patton street at a terrific rate of speed and stopped in front of the two officers. The officer at the time did not know if it was a stolen car but he proposed to arrest the driver for speeding and driving without proper lights. He told Heflinger to watch the machine while he secured his own car from behind the police station. He intended running the fleeing car down. Heflinger did not wait for Sergeant Haraway but gave chase on foot when he heard the motor of the Ford splutter and reduce its speed. The lights had been ruined on by this time. When the car finally came to a dead stop, the man jumped from the wheel and disappeared down an alleyway and has not been seen since. It was found that the gasoline supply had exhausted.

By this time the owners had discovered that their machine was missing and had come to report it to the police. They identified the car on the top of the hill. There it was turned over to them. There it was known to have escaped the bandits it is possible that twice that number remain in captivity.

Thus, while 13 passengers are known to have escaped the bandits it is possible that twice that number remain in captivity.

Another outrage occurred on the Tientsin railway line Monday night when a Canadian merchant named Lowe, travelling to Shanghai, was pulled from a train by cutlars beaten, bound and carried away. Chinese police standing by made no effort to release him but a foreigner, visiting the British consul, the consul demanded and obtained Lowe's release immediately and an explanation of the affair was awaited impatiently in foreign circles. To the list of those held by bandits has been added R. H. Rowlett, British manager of Reiss and Co., merchants of Tientsin. Mr. Rowlett is believed to have been married in San Francisco about six months ago.

THE GREAT STONE FOOT OF RAMAPO A FAKE

(By The Associated Press)

TOMASBURG, N. Y., May 8.—At the greatest scientific conference in the history of the Ramapo valley here today the mystery of the Great Stone Foot was solved and new impetus was given the researches of the Jones boys, Luke and Eddie, principal ethnologists of this community.

The conference was a great surprise to the boys, who were at the barn when the banner-sign and of this town arrived with Foster H. Saville, expert on the New England Indian tribes for the Museum of the American Indian, Heye Foundation, of New York.

"Mr. Jones?" Inquired Mr. Saville. "We have come to see your collection."

Lake Jones faced settled into hard lines of scientific meditation. Eddie succeeded in calling off the dogs, went to the house for the collection, "got a bar's worth," Luke concluded.

"I got a Stone Foot," he added.

Eddie returned with a paper bag of arrowheads and shards of what might have been Indian pots and a cigar box containing the tooth. Lake's word for tooth, Mr. Saville said, it was a claw when all the pieces were assembled.

The conference continued, in spite of heckling from the back shop for Eddie to go get the mail.

"That's what the Indians made their shoes over," said Lake, holding up the Great Stone Foot. "I'm offered a lot of money for that!"

"It's a piece of rather poor granite," said Mr. Saville, his face a little drawn. "Just a natural formation, you know; not a last for making moccasins. What do you do with the bones you find in these caves around here?"

"I don't keep the bones," admitted Luke.

"Well, that's about the most valuable thing you'll find."

And on this the conference ended.

Mr. Saville came back to identify Chief Schuamunk, whose skeleton was reported discovered in a rock sheltered. The visit to the Jones boys was an afterthought.

DEMOCRATS WIN
Out in Baltimore

(By The Associated Press)

BALTIMORE, Md., May 9.—The Democrats made a clean sweep in yesterday's municipal contest, electing their candidates for mayor, comptroller, president of the council and seventeen of the eighteen members of the new one-chamber council. Howard W. Jackson, Democratic nominee, defeated William F. Broening, Republican, incumbent by about 24,000 votes.

The Membership committee of the Chamber of Commerce met this morning and completed plans for a membership drive. The actual campaign will begin next Tuesday, although letters to prospects will be immediately mailed out and canvassers will then interview them in person.

In connection with Clean-up Week, now in progress, prizes are being offered for the best and most appropriate poster by schoolchildren. All pupils in any of the schools are entitled to try for the prize and much interest is being shown. At the same time a large number of bulletins on city clean-up are being distributed. The city garbage department is still handicapped in collecting garbage but are doing exceptionally well, considering the situation. Only one of the three new trucks purchased for this work is now in operation. A body is being put on one and the third has not arrived. Two of the old machines are still broken down and it can be seen that the garbage department is working under handicap.

A large number of Shriners are expected to go from Danville to attend the annual convention to be held in Washington June 5 to 7 inclusive. In this connection the postoffice department announces that plans are being made to provide ample special postal service in the Capital for the thousands of Shriners.

Stations for the delivery of mail and the transaction of other postal business will be established at the headquarters of the several temples represented at the convention. A general post office for the special convenience of Shriners and other visitors attending the convention will be established. Mail bearing a specific address, such as a hotel or street number, will be delivered accordingly. Mail addressed in care of a temple will be delivered from the station at the headquarters of that temple. All other mail bearing the word "Shriner" will be delivered from the Shrine post office.

Final details for the presentation of "Back to the Country Store" at Stonewall Jackson school tomorrow night, have been virtually completed. The play will be given by local talent and will start promptly at 8:15 o'clock.

The police commission which was to have held its monthly session yesterday afternoon will meet today at three o'clock. Inability of Messrs F. W. Townes and Guy F. Walton, members of the body, prevented the session yesterday.

The city council will hold its regular monthly meeting on Thursday at eight o'clock. All of the committees have met with the exception of the Public Works which held a session this morning.

The Danville Automobile Association held their monthly meeting at the Country Club last night where supper was enjoyed. Many matters of interest to the motoring public were discussed, among these being the utilization of the Worsham Street Bridge for motor traffic. Members of the Association believe that the bridge can be safely used at a restricted speed limit and that its use will be a great help in relieving the growing congestion on the iron bridge. A committee composed of Messrs C. K. Carter, Lee Wilson and Mr. Baldwin was appointed to go before the council last night to request that the bridge be thrown open to the public.

Nearly twenty lots have been sold on the newly developed Marshall Terrace which is being developed as a residential street and which is destined to be paved within the next few weeks. The task of leveling the street which has been in progress for some months has almost been completed. This has been accomplished by motor tracks and plows and horse-drawn scrapers. Tons of earth have been carried from the upper side of the new street and deposited on the lower side. The plans of the new development show that the hill in ground will be the front yards of the row of houses on the eastern side of the street, the houses being built up from the original ground base.

Southern Railway officials report that the two new fast trains put on between New York and New Orleans, known as Numbers 33 and 34 are being well patronized indicating that both expresses are proving popular. The Southern is offering a cash prize of $200 for the most appropriate names for these two new fliers, the fastest trains operated on the system. The award is to be announced shortly, it is said.

Stonewall Jackson School came first with 59 points; R. E. Lee second with 51 points, Rison Park third with 42 points, Rison Park fourth with 28 points. The Stonewall teachers and children were led to work to maintain the cup which they had won last year. R. E. Lee however, made things warm for their rivals as well as did the other two schools which made a creditable showing, considering they did not have the older children at their school.

The Folk dances given at the May Day exercises will be repeated soon, as was decided on at a meeting of the committee in charge of the event held yesterday. The event will be repeated for the benefit of those who did not see them May Day. The date and place will be announced later. It is probable that the dance will be given at night, under the spotlight, as those in charge are now working to this end.

The Danville Baseball team and Greensboro will play here this afternoon at Stonewall Jackson park. Rice, this morning at eight o'clock arrested Oscar Cook and Charlie Pritchett, in a car which, the officers allege, contained fifty gallons of gasoline. The men were coming from the mountains and ran into the ambulance at Mount Oliver Church on the Mount Cross road. The car which they were driving was an almost new Ford machine. The men submitted quietly to arrest, according to Officer Rice. Both were brought to Danville and lodged in jail pending a preliminary hearing which will be given them at Schoolfield probably tomorrow morning. Cook is of Danville while Pritchett is described as the white of Turpin's lake above Schoolfield.

PATH TO PEACE A POSSIBLE RESULT OF BIG DEBACLE

By WILLIAM PHILIP SIMMS
(Special to The Bee)

VIENNA, May 9.—"A candle has been lighted in Austria for the salvation of Europe. That candle may yet show Europe the way to peace."

In this way the commissioner general of the League of Nations here, Dr. A. E. Zimmerman, former burgomaster of Rotterdam, Holland, spoke of the international co-operation between nations—not individuals—for the reconstruction of practically down and out Austria.

Dr. Zimmerman is in absolute charge of Austria's finances, in fact a sort of benevolent dictator here, responsible to the league and to no one else.

He accepted the Vienna post for three months, but now he has given up his home in Holland, his work and all connections there to put into his job of saving Austria for the Austrians everything he's got.

And that's a lot. He is 54, but looks younger—looks like a clean-cut American business man—the type who is president of everything, at the head of every progressive move for the good of his city, state or country and major of his city by popular demand—not by political machines.

Magnetic. Practical—yet with ideals. Snappy brown eyes—almost black. Tendency to baldness. Youngish-looking mustache. Good dresser. A man to trust to the limit. That's Zimmerman.

"Europe," he told me during the talk I had with him at his office in the old "Common Ministry of Finance" for Austro-Hungary, Johanneggasse 5, "is groping, groping in the dark, trying to find the way out."

"Here in Vienna we have lighted a candle—just a tiny flame—but with all the darkness in Europe today it ought to make itself seen."

"Here in Austria for the first time in the history of the world, we see nations unselfishly co-operating to save another nation. Austria now tries to help her get on her feet."

"Austria's recent enemies have postponed indefinitely all claims against Austria, whether for relief credits, reparations obligations or other."

"They have guaranteed the political independence, territorial integrity and sovereignty of Austria."

Good progress is reported on the highway improvement project west of here where six miles of concrete road will be laid from Sandy River Bridge along the Bachelor's Hall road. Concrete pouring has not yet been undertaken, the construction force at present being busy grading the road.

S. C. Officers Come After Two Alleged Thieves

Charlie Morgan and Frank Gregory, arrested last Sunday for the South Carolina authorities, were last night turned over to Police Officer J. P. Glenn, of Spartanburg. The men are charged with the theft of a Ford car from J. Burnett of that city, and are described as bad characters. Their arrest was the result of information from Reidsville to the Schoolfield police that Gregory had held up man there for the purpose of robbing and had shot at him when he ran. The arrests were made by Sergeant J. H. Martin and Patrolman O. W. Bates of the local force, and Chief of Police Cole and Sergeant Baker of the Schoolfield police department.

Some time ago warrants were sent here for the arrest of Gregory and Morgan, though they were charged with the theft of an automobile. Sergeant Martin took charge of the paper. Early Sunday morning shortly before midnight the Schoolfield police received a message from Reidsville asking them to look out for the two men. They were said to have held up a man in Reidsville at the point of a gun. The man ran and Gregory is said to have fired at him. The robbers then fled in an automobile. The Schoolfield police requested the local officers to aid them in the case. After searching for some time the four officers finally found the two men at their respective boarding places.

At the time it was not known that Gregory and Morgan were the men wanted in South Carolina. The officers took men in custody to answer the robbery and shooting charge. On getting a good view of the men, Sergeant Martin remembered the description sent with the warrants for the South Carolina fugitives and he readily identified them as the auto thieves. He immediately communicated with the Spartanburg police authorities and an officer arrived for the men last night, identifying them as the ones sought.

Inasmuch that the men were not successful in their alleged robbery expedition at Reidsville, it was decided not to hold the men here but to allow the South Carolina officers to have them.

Mrs. M. R. Ramos is in Lynchburg this week, attending the annual convention of the Grand Chapter, Order Eastern Star.

Film Folk Owe
Debt To Public,
Aver Schenck

LOS ANGELES, May 8.—Motion picture stars owe a great personal debt to the public—a greater one perhaps than they ever will be able to pay.

Thus does Joseph M. Schenck, maker of silver screen stars, view the relationship of film illuminaries to their patrons.

"There is that unbeatable law of compensation," Schenck declared in an exclusive statement to International News Service. "No one ever got anything without paying for it, and the motion picture stars pay and pay dearly for the glory they receive from the public when elevated to picture stardom.

"No producer nor a dozen managers can readily make a film star popular with the motion picture-going public. The particular person has to be endowed with individuality, ability, and the happy faculty of making himself popular. When they have these endowments and are elevated to a place in the minds and hearts of people all over the world they have got to pay for them. They owe something in return to the public and must recognize it.

Never Can Repay.

"They can't pay their obligation in dollars and cents," Schenck went on after a pause, "but they can—in fact, they must—show their appreciation through their behavior—the manner in which they spend their idle hours and conduct themselves white off the screen. The public elects picture stars to be favorites just as it elects men and women to serve in public office. Any public office holder has constantly got to be on his guard to not make a "miss-step" and the same applies to people who appear in motion pictures. They owe it. They know it, and every one of them will tell you they are trying to pay it."

"Some people present the argument that the public in general does not care what sort of a private life the star leads, so long as he or she satisfies it while on the screen." It was suggested to the movie magnate.

"Indeed, it does care," he declared. "The public thinks more of their private life than it does of their appearance on the screen, because it knows when they are before the camera they are presenting the 'best.' There are thousands—millions would be better—of young girls throughout the world that select one feminine star and literally model their very lives and appearances after her fashion.

Are Youthful Heroes.

The public, perhaps doesn't realize when considering the private life of a picture actor or actress that he or she is elevated to a pedestal of virtue at a comparatively young age—say, 24 or 28 years. On the contrary a public office holder is not selected until he has attained a full majority of at least 35 years. In our younger years we all do a lot of things we should. This should be recognized when criticizing stars.

The foremost purpose of motion pictures today is to entertain," Schenck declared, "and everything else—education, money making and the so-called message, of the actors and actresses to the public—are secondary in purpose."

PEKING, May 8.—The Chinese government early this morning issued orders to the foreign commissioners of Shantung province to comply with all the demands of the Szechuan bandits, for ransom for the prisoners they are holding, and otherwise. Diplomatic circles are not optimistic as to the result of the order.

turned off, and had to use carbolic acid as the only antiseptic.

"The care as to detail that makes the modern hospital a life-saving institution," says Miss West, "did not exist then. But with the coming of the trained nurse came the change."

It was some change, for Mrs. Elizabeth C. Hobson, who was one of the women who started the training school, says these conditions existed:

"There were no regular night nurses. A man called a night watchman passed through the wards and if he found a patient ill or dying he called a young doctor.

"Occasionally patients who had been overlooked were found dead in the morning.

"Rats scampered over the floors at night.

"The house staff dressed wounds going from one patient to another, often carrying infection in spite of precautions used. Sponges for washing the wounds were not cotton, but bits of real sponge, and were used on one patient after another without any disinfection."

But all that has been changed with the advent of the new methods and better training.

Oil Tariff Law Protest Against

BY GEORGE M. MANNING.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 8.—Commissioner of Agriculture G. W. Koiner, of Virginia, with the Commissioners of Georgia, North Carolina, South Carolina, and Alabama, joined with Governor-elect Clifford M. Walker, of Georgia, in a protest to President Harding on behalf of the small peanut farmers of the South against the re-opening of the vegetable oil schedule of the tariff law.

Governor Walker headed a large delegation of representative men from these five states who met on the president's platform. After reading the petition to the president he spoke for a few moments very earnestly on behalf of those men in the agricultural regions who have "looked with hope to the peanut industry" as one which promises to help them diversify their crops and cut down the cotton acreage.

It was argued that to docket the vegetable oil schedule for a hearing would have the effect of seriously hurting the peanut market, as it would probably be a long drawn out contest, and that this and kindred branches of agriculture would be hurt as a consequence.

Striking points brought out by the petition which is to represent thoroughly the views of the producers, included the following statements:

"The present condition of the farmers of the country demands that every assistance be given him as the prosperity of other business interests is largely dependent upon his buying power.

"When the vegetable oil schedule was included in the tariff act it was done following careful and exhaustive study and consideration on the part of Congress. After favorable action was taken, the agricultural people made their plans and preparations for their crops accepting the measure in the light of its contract. Large acreage had been planted in peanuts which would not have been planted had it not been for the provisions of the present law."

"The peanut industry is practically an infant industry. The people represented by your petitioners have turned to it with hope having no idea that any attempt would be made to deprive them of this protection and based their plans in good faith upon the act of Congress.

"We appeal to you to hold up the hands of the struggling agricultural interests. There is no public demand being made for any downward revision of the vegetable oil schedule, but the public interest lies with those whom we represent, and to docket the schedule would have an unwholesome effect on both production and credits. Therefore we earnestly urge that you will not permit the question of reducing the prices of farm products, which are still entirely out of line with wages and manufactured products to even be considered."

Believe Bandits Planned Raid to Gain Ransom

(Special to The Bee.) IN the whole world's history of bandit activities there has never been an instance of the Chinese outlaw depredation comparable to the capture of multimillionaire Americans and other foreigners who were dragged from the Pukow-Tientsin train near the small station of Linchepu in the lake region of western Shantung province.

That the coup was planned for what the brigands could get out of it financially was the first thought naturally following the outrage. Recent troubles in China have not been of anti-foreign character, like the Boxer uprising, and while prisoners in Chinese robber bands are always in danger from the recklessness of their captors, the latter's main purpose is to take as good care of them as possible in order not to jeopardize payment of ransom.

REALIZE QUARRY'S WORTH

Among the Chinese engaged in half-revolutionary/half-marauding operations throughout most of their country, are a good many of western education, who realize the importance and financial possibilities of the prisoners taken in connection with the Linchepu affair.

The larger of these bands have agents in such foreign centers as Shanghai and Tientsin, through which they dispose of their loot and secure supplies of arms and ammunition.

From these sources it is likely that they had full information relative to the identities and standing of their captives.

Shantung was the province in which the Japanese established an influential intervention during the World War—a sphere which the Tokyo government ordered evacuated as a result of post-war agreement. This despite the prospect of an immediate outbreak of banditry as soon as the Nipponese troops were withdrawn—because the Peking authority was admittedly non-existent there.

ARMY NEEDED FOR CAPTURE

The province gets its name from "tung," meaning "east" and "shan," or "mountain." Thus it is east of the range which divides it from the western territory of Shansi—"west of the mountains."

The wild country between the two provinces affords refuge for bandits where a huge army alone can cope with them.

Heretofore negotiations for release of wealthy prisoners have generally been conducted by outlaws in this part of the country through the famous Chinese guild of Shansi bankers, an organization which ramifications in every part of China, having tremendous strength and, if its pledge is given, of unquestioned integrity.

MOROCCAN LEADER IN LAST FAMOUS KIDNAPING CASE

The celebrated Moroccan outlaw leader, Rasouli, was the beneficiary in 1904 to the extent of 11,000 pounds through the kidnaping of Ion Perdicaris, an American citizen of Greek birth from the latter's home in the outskirts of Tangier.

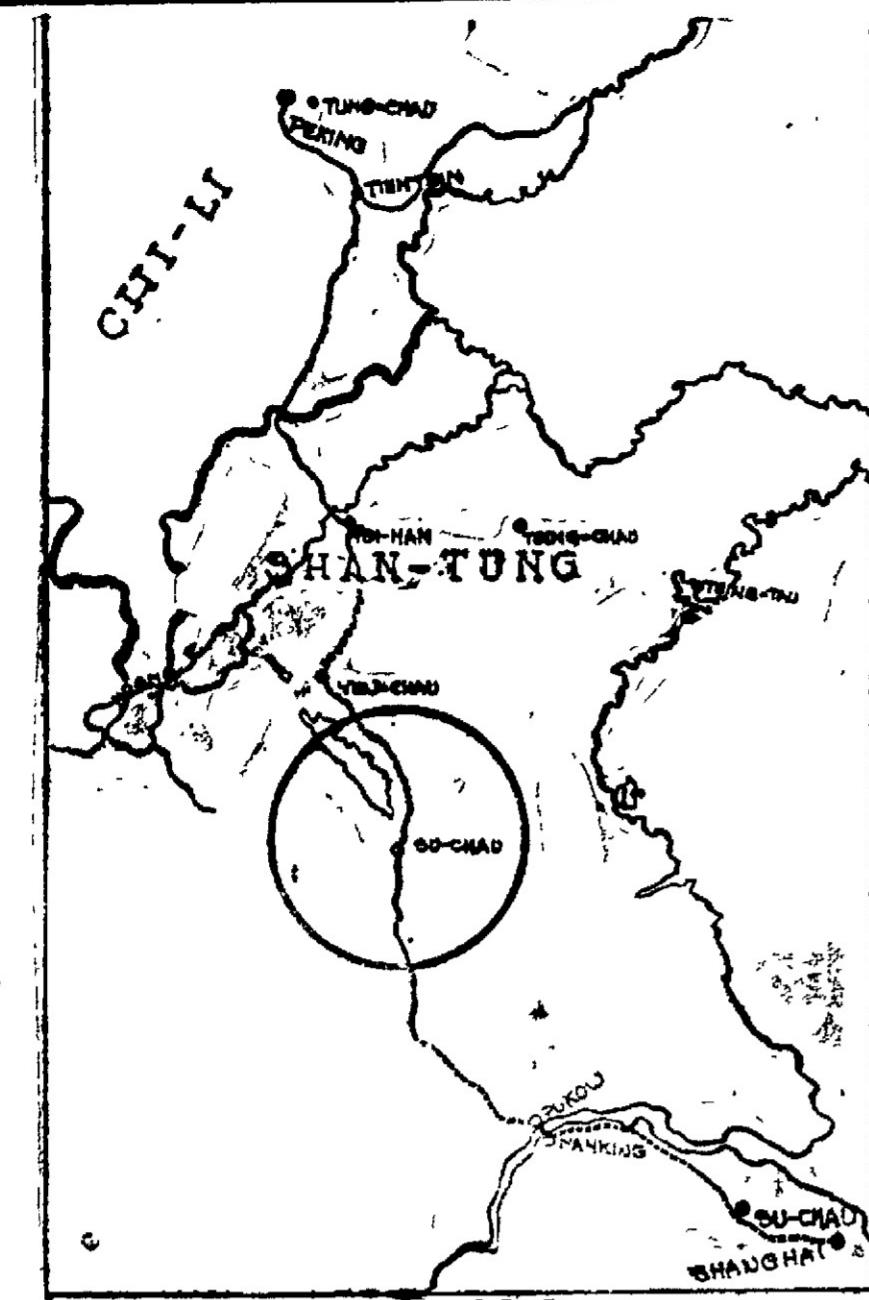

Perdicaris' stepson, Vorley, a British subject, was captured at the same time and at first a demand of $75,000 was made for release of the pair. Both the United States and British governments made the most forcible representations to the sultan of Morocco in behalf of the two prisoners.

President Roosevelt, in connection with the incident, sent his celebrated message, "insisting peremptorily on Perdicaris alive or Rasouli dead."

The sultan accepted the former alternative, and, in addition to paying the 11,000 pounds to which Rasouli finally scaled his price dismissed the governor of Tangier and released all the outlaw's followers whom he had been holding prisoners in Tangier.

SCENE OF OUTRAGE IS ORIGIN OF BOXER REBELLION

Shantung, the province in which

The train holdup and kidnaping of American citizens occurred on the Pukow-Tientsin Railway, somewhere in the area within the circle on the map. It is directly in the province of Shantung, long a hotbed of Chinese unrest. It was here that the Boxer rebellion started in 1899.

Wire dispatches report the kidnaping of the Americans in the original seat of the Boxer uprising.

It is a maritime province, bounded on the north by the province of Chih-lia and the Gulf of Chih-lia, and on the east and south by the Yellow Sea. In area, it is about 55,000 square miles, and has a population of approximately 37,000,000.

Toward the end of 1899 the reactionary movement in China rose rapidly. The outbreak was precipitated by the brutal murder of an English missionary in Shantung.

Origin of the Boxer movement is obscure. Its name is taken from a free translation of the Chinese designation, 'the fist of righteous harmony.'

From the first the Boxers came into the open with war upon all foreigners. "Exterminate the foreigners and save the dynasty," was their cry.

The religious aspect of the movement gave it strength. Missions had been established there, and it was commonly accepted by superstitious natives that the spirits which defended China were angry because of the introduction of western methods and ideals.

This belief went so far that the rebels thought themselves invulnerable to any western weapon.

After the murder of the Englishman, Brooks, the storm broke. Murder and pillage were of daily occurrence. The entire country was overrun, especially Shantung, with bands of Boxers who tore up railroads, and murdered foreigners.

Even after the combined American, British, Russian, French, German and Japanese strength brought a return of peace, it took months before a semblance of international confidence was restored.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 8.—Forty of the leading cities located in more than 20 states will be represented at the conference of negro city pastors and laymen, to be held here beginning tomorrow, under the auspices of the Methodist Episcopal church.

There are three main questions to be considered by the conference. The first will be a study of the new conditions obtaining in both northern and southern cities due to the migration of negroes from the rural south and during the world war. Hundreds into industrial north and west during thousands of negroes have entered the congested sections of industrial cities bringing with them new problems of housing, of public health and of over crowding of church and school.

98 OUT OF EVERY 100 WOMEN BENEFITED

An Absolutely Reliable Statement Important to Every Woman

Remarkable Results Shown by a Nation Wide Canvas of Women Purchasers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. 50,000 Women Answer

For some time a circular has been enclosed with each bottle of our medicine bearing this question: "Have you received benefit from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?"

Replies, to date, have been received from over 50,000 women answering that question:

98 per cent of which say YES. That means that 98 out of every 100 women who take the medicine for the ailments for which it is recommended are benefited by it.

This is a most remarkable record of efficiency. We doubt if any other medicine in the world equals it.

Think of it—only two women out of 100 received no benefit—98 succeeds out of a possible 100.

Did you ever hear anything like it? We must admit that we, ourselves, are astonished.

Such evidence should induce every woman suffering from any ailment peculiar to her sex to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and see if she can't be one of the 98. The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

Of course we know that our medicine does benefit the large majority of women who take it. But that only two out of 100 received no benefit is most astonishing.

It only goes to prove, however, that a medicine specialized for certain definite ailments—not a cure all—one that is made by the most scientific process: not from drugs, but from a combination of nature's roots and herbs, can and does do more good than hastily prepared prescriptions.

You see, we have been making, improving and refining this medicine for over 60 years until it is so perfect and so well adapted to women's needs that it actually has the virtue to benefit 98 out of every 100 women who take it.

Its reliability and recognized efficiency has gained for it a sale in almost every country in the world—leading all others.

Such evidence should induce every woman suffering from any ailment peculiar to her sex to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and see if she can't be one of the 98. The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

REPAIR SHOPS BURNED TO GROUND IN BRISTOL

(By The Associated Press)
BRISTOL, Va.-Tenn., May 8.—The repair shops of the Virginia State Highway commission on Commonwealth avenue were completely destroyed by fire tonight, involving a loss estimated at about $25,000. The origin of the fire is unknown. Firemen said that rain likely saved the factory of the Bristol Coffin Company. The coffin factory is located about 75 feet from where the repair shops stood. Four trucks owned by the highway commission burned.

WOMAN DENIES IMMORAL SIDE PURNELL CULT

ST. JOSEPH, Mich., May 7.—Pearl Flake, 14-year-old ex-imitate of the Hough of David, denied before the one-man grand investigation the colony today, that she had ever seen anything immoral during the years she lived with the Benjamin Purnell cult.

The girl said she left the colony with her mother a month ago after a brother living in Chicago read about the alleged conditions there and threatened to come over with a shotgun and "clean out" the colony unless his sister was withdrawn.

Miss Flake, according to reports, gave Judge Harry Dingeman important testimony which directly contradicts statements made by the girls—brides, who are still in the cult. Judge Dingeman admitted some witnesses already here may be recalled.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 9, 1923.

WHO WILL COME FORWARD.

The announced decision to abandon the annual "Mother's Day" services in the tabernacle next Sunday constitutes a reflection on this community which should not be tolerated and which should spur to action some organization. Today is Wednesday and there is ample time to arrange for a meeting on Sunday.

Who will seize this opportunity of performing a public service and saving the community from a blemish? It is time for some civic group to stand in the breach and to prevent the first break in the sequence of these memorial exercises when the mothers of men in Danville have been duly honored.

Failure to secure a speaker after making application to five men should not, in our opinion, have discouraged the committee on arrangements to the point of abandoning thought of holding the exercises. Danville is not lacking in masters of oratory and even though it were this should not be sufficient cause to warrant the frank admission of inability to hold a meeting. As a last resort the meeting could be held without a speaker. Such a course would at least reflect a devotion to others and a willingness of the spirit though a weakness of the flesh. The custom is one too sacred to be abandoned as it were with the stroke of the pen.

The Bee feels impelled to renew this appeal to one of Danville's many civic and community serving organizations to come forward in this emergency which many of us feel compelled to regard not without a little shame.

DRAKES BRANCH, May 9.—(Grupeino Wireloch.)—Here is a letter explaining the nebular hypothesis: Dear Scoop: I find that I am not by myself in regard to improper training of our rising generation; whether it be good grammar or not, which should not be expected, as I quit school in the first part of the second reader. The following is a clipping from the Washington Times:

"Average intelligence of the United States is sliding down hill, according to the test of Prof. Forrester A. Kingsbury, head of the Psychology Department University. He cites data from tests made on soldiers during the war, the greatest single experiment of the kind ever taken, when 1,750,000 men were psychologically tested. These showed a remarkable few small caliber brains among American men, he said, and another that at this time would bring even more surprising tests, result of these tests present an accurate sample of the adult male mind of America, he asserted, and they show that only 12 per cent, are of superior very superior intelligence, while 24 per cent, are very dull, feeble-minded or on the border line. Even in public leadership are to be found many of the defective and dependents and a disproportionate percentage of social offenders. Defective classes are multiplying more rapidly than those of higher levels."

Now then, we see it is very important to cultivate the minds of children in studies of "BRAIN," building "ideas of brainy men." For it is better to have a good common horse sense than on it is to be an educated but-headed ignoramus. I have often heard it said that an educated fool was the biggest fool you could possibly run against.

Now the writer would be exceedingly glad if the leaders of our educational department would seriously meditate along these lines and see if there cannot be a radical change made in literary science in the coming years, and I am sure it will be better for the old as well as the young.

Respectfully,
Jno. Forbes.

PRINCETON, May 8.—Fourteen Princeton seniors went on record in the class vote as being of the opinion that dancing is morally wrong. But the majority favored card playing, dancing, smoking and courting.

The average senior corresponds with three and seven-eights girls. This is interesting as a sign of the times, in view of 1896 statistics. In that year each Princeton senior corresponded with five and six-ninths girls.

Poison Gases Used In War on Disease

WASHINGTON, May 8.—The experiments the chemical warfare service of the army is conducting with poison gases at Edgewood Arsenal in connection with various diseases are designed primarily for use in prevention work. While highly gratified over the result of certain experiments which have resulted in the cure of paroxysms and other diseases, the experts are primarily interested in determining how best to apply the gases in diluted form for the prevention of disease.

It was found during the war that army experts have little or no control over diseases of the nose, throat and lungs. Consequently death from pneumonia numbered upward of 45,000. The vital importance of pneumonia was partly responsible for the prosecution of the experiments with chloroform gas after it was accidentally found that a slight leakage of chlorine gas apparently acted as a germicide and prevented employees in the chlorine department taking influenza during the 1918 epidemic.

Rooster Lives After

Craw Is Opened Up

WINCHESTER, Va., May 8.—A big Plymouth rock rooster owned by one of the thirty housewives of Scrabble, Jefferson county, W. Va., has been broken when threatened to become an incorrigible habit of digging up and eating a special brand of peas which his owner had taken great pains to plant.

The Scrabble woman recently obtained peans of an exceptionally fine variety and planted them in specially prepared ground. Just as she was about to join the family for an automobile ride into the suburban districts of Scrabble she spied the rooster scratching in the garden. Three rows had been dug and the rooster eaten. Picking up a switch knife as she left the house, the woman caught the rooster with the deafness of a surgeon opened its craw and extracted therefrom over a pint of the peas.

She then seved up the craw and turned the rooster loose. Once more the peans were planted, and since a copious shower a day or two ago they have come up and are growing nicely, while the rooster seems as well as ever, although his voice is said to be cracked.

Foreign observers of the Franco-German situation continue gloomy. Major General Allen, who commanded the American troops at Coblenz, says there's been trouble in the Ruhr for 2000 years; probably will be for 2000 more.

To pay the 30 billions Germany proposes to take eight years.

She aims to raise the money by issuing bonds, for sale abroad.

If France wants more, Germany suggests a board, consisting of financiers from the lending countries, to decide how much she can pay. This was Secretary of State Hughes' plan.

Germany recalls that France wants security against future attack. She offers it, by agreeing to arbitrate disputes.

What France Wants.

France turns down the German offer.

She says it isn't enough. She demands what she calls an "appropriate sum." She intends to decide for herself what's "appropriate" not leave it to an international board.

Before she'll talk at all she insists on abandonment of Germany's "passive resistance" in the Ruhr.

But the Germany proposal may yet

(By The Associated Press)

Saunders and Federal Prohibition Director R. A. Fulwiler. The first meeting will be held in Norfolk tomorrow. The second will be in Richmond Thursday and the third in Charlottesville the following day. Other conferences may be held in other sections of the state, later, it was announced.

Many politicians think he'll return only to resign.

But this won't mean the Conservatives' retirement in favor of a Labor cabinet. It would, if Bonar Law had to resign on account of a majority against him in Parliament, resignation on account of bad health is different.

Bonar Law simply will turn over his party to another Conservative.

Probably it will be Stanley Baldwin, chancellor of the exchequer and secretary of the treasury as he'd be called in the United States. Baldwin is very popular because, as chancellor, he has reduced taxes.

Peace Plan Fails.

The Pan-American Conference in Chile has had to give up its effort for an armament limitation agreement.

The scheme fell so flat that the Latin American members of the committee wouldn't even report. The North American members had to do so alone, in general terms, deploying war but saying nothing definite.

South American newspapers say the stumbling block was the encouragement recently given by the United States to Brazil to strengthen her navy.

Celebrate Today

The centenary of their best loved song, "Home Sweet Home," composed by a wandering American actor and first sung in London, May 8, 1823. The love of home, the ambition to own a home, is still strong in us all. Had you thought that every home represents some one's savings? And the wished-for-home, still air castles, remain so because people do not realize that Thrift and safe investment would make them real? THIS IS A GOOD DAY TO START SAVING FOR A HOME.

WEEKLY BOOK REVIEW

DISSATISFIED WITH LIFE, STUDY MASSON'S PHILOSOPHY

DEAN REVIEWS
THAT SILVER LINING, by Thomas L. Masson (Doubleday, Page).
STICKFULS, by Irvin Cobb (Doran).
ANTHONY JOHN, by Jerome K. Jerome (Dodd, Mead).
WOLVES OF THE SEA, by Gérard Legoux (Macaulay).
THE VOICE FROM THE VOID, by William LeQueux (Macaulay).

BY JAMES W. DEAN
NEW YORK, May 9.—Remember, that no matter who you are, all things are possible. There is no age to consciousness.

You can have just about anything you want if you want it enough and if you have faith in something—faith in almost anything.

Forgetfulness, depression, public opinion, fear, all the things that make humankind uncomfortable, are only mere voids.

This is the passive and comforting philosophy of Thomas L. Masson in "That Silver Lining."

The universe is confined to our cerebral hemispheres. Life is only a matter of understanding.

Much of the logic in "That Silver Lining" originates with Masson, but the greater part of it has been borrowed from the great philosophers of all times and wedded into a most engrossing work on applied psychology.

Masson has tried the application upon himself.

This book is recommended to everyone who is at all dissatisfied with life. Will all those who are easily satisfied with life stand so that I may be counted?

Explorations into Masson's philosophy has taken up much of the time that was planned for a review of fiction. This non-fiction work is far more entertaining than much of our fiction.

Several very worthwhile novels have been only partly read because a friend presented the reviewer with a copy of Irvin Cobb's "Stickfuls" intending to only glance through it. I read it through from cover to cover. Any newspaperman would. So would any other person to whom the romance of newspaper work appeals.

I recommend that the last chapter, "The Lonsdale Laugh," be omitted from a reading of the book as a whole. It seems out of place in this particular volume.

Received a note from the author of "West of the Water Tower," in which he tells why he has remained anonymous. He wrote a book once before. An author receives six free copies. This author had many relatives and acquaintances. Each wanted an autographed copy. That resulted in lots of trouble and much expense. Between visitors and after-dinner speeches he had little time to himself. Remaining anonymous, he thus saved himself much trouble.

A critical friends wrote in to say that in his review of "West of the Water Tower" I said nothing of its literary quality. My only reply is that I didn't have to refer to the dictionary once while reading it. Nor did I have to puzzle over one French or Latin phrase.

Whenever an author seeks to preach to me under the guise of writing fiction, I generally pass up his book. I like my religion straight. I like my fiction the same way. I read partly through "Anthony John," by Jerome K. Jerome, convinced that the sermon was coming just a little later on.

But "Anthony John" is not a detection-preachment. The hero was born poor. He struggled up to a place of wealth and influence.

About to be made a member of the House of Lords, he abandons all that he has gained to live again among the poor and to help them.

This book seems to me to be a more uplifting more inspiring work than Jerome's other work of spiritual regeneration.

"The Passing of the Third Floor Back."

With so many books at hand I should have known better than to glance at the first chapter of "Wolves of the Sea." I should have known that I would not be able to lay it down again until had read it through.
